POST-WAR PROPOSAL

When the war is over and justice reigns unchallenged, there will be no further danger of riots on May day.

There should be, then, a restoration of May day as a seasonal festival, with everybody knocking off work and skipping lightly in one or more directions in quest of May flowers. Everything should be free. If the organizers have to be appeased, they should be permitted to call May 1 Nature day, but everything else about it should be informal and extemporaneous. This is so that if it rains on May 1, no one will feel obligated to feel glad against his will—but otherwise can do as his fancy dictates, which is what millions of us have dreamed of doing on nice May days for so many years—but never did.

IT IS LATER THAN IT WAS

As we shoved the minute hand of the clock around the dial one complete revolution and make it an hour later than it was, there was an instant of mastery that gives a time-ridden mortal dangerous ideas. It wouldn't be so hard, after all, just to add one more hour and make it two hours later than it was.

Or, when the time comes to make it earlier than it was, a mortal wanting to live some part of his life over again—a simple matter of clock adjusting up to units of one hour—must dream of padding his allotment and adding an extra hour for good measure. But then time is only relative, like space.

It is a little more or less, that's all, and today it is a little more. Next September, it will be a little less. A year ago, or a little more, when it happened first there was a little less acceptance of that fact than there is now; we have mastered time to that extent.

PROGRESSIVE INVASION

When invasion starts there will be no doubt about it, yet the pattern may be wholly unlike that anticipated in the ordinary run of speculation. The Germans, themselves, have called this to attention with announcement of their belief that the current air assault is the first wave of invasion.

What ordinarily is thought of as invasion is, of course, the attack from invasion craft sent from England to European beaches. But here, too, the pattern of progressive invasion may prove temporarily misleading, because it is as near a certainty as anything can be that the Allies will not give the Germans the advantage of concentrating their defenses at any single point. There are likely to be many thrusts, to mislead the Germans, and the invasion plan probably will emerge at the climax as a series of sallies driven into German defenses, with extreme pressure applied to those where there is most to be gained or lost.

The decision will not be reached in a matter of days. Just as the invasion really started when the Allies sought dominance in the air over Europe, it will continue until they have gained dominance on the ground in Europe. There will be continuous and progressive action, all of which will be invasion.

FRANK KNOX, A MAN OF SPIRIT

Eight years ago, Frank Knox was a leading contender for the Republican presidential nomination in the convention of 1936. It was the nation's introduction to a dynamic personality which had asserted itself previously in the newspaper business, in local and state politics, in Teddy Roosevelt's "Rough Riders" and numerous public causes. The introduction was acknowledged, and Col. Knox became a public figure. He was given second place on the Republican ticket that year.

As a publicist and spokesman for the opposition, he earned much of the credit for joining the issue with the New Deal so squarely that by the next presidential election its political tide had begun to ebb. While his appointment as secretary of the navy on July 11, 1940, made him part of the wartime government and removed him from the discussion forum, his unequivocal views on domestic policy were too well known to be forgotten.

As a member of the Roosevelt cabinet, he thought he himself as a citizen doing his best in a post of great responsibility. He said at the time that he had put partisan politics to one side for national service; he demonstrated convincingly up to his death Friday that he was wholly dedicated to the proposition of national security. His service in both World Wars and the Spanish-American war was distinguished by great energy and integrity as was his career in the newspaper business and politics. Frank Knox was an American set apart from the ordinary run by extraordinary capacity—one of the men whose capacity, turned to the service of all the people, sets the people, themselves, apart from others less favored by the privilege of finding strong, capable men to do the nation's work, whatever it happens to be.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, May 2

A PARTICULARLY lively and active day is foreseen by the predominant astral operations. A swift grasp of openings and lucrative ventures may lead to progressive and productive culminations, with lasting and secure foundations. Nevertheless this course of action may be incited by a sudden and abrupt undermining of old and flagging situations. This may demand a quick about-face, with decisions made without faltering or bickering, as radical and far reaching issues may be at stake. With good judgment there is promise of cooperation from public bodies or by secret understandings with large interests. Travel, agencies, and contracts call for sound decisions.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a particularly lively and eventful year, in which excellent opportunities for fruitful and productive years ahead depend on swift and shrewd decisions and movements. An abrupt and surprising turn in affairs, possibly of radical and undermining character, allows for no dallying or long drawn out decisions. Positive and definite operations may be supported by public or group bodies or by secret or behind the scenes agreements. New contracts are in order, with travel, change, or much stirring about, but profitably and happily if cleverly managed. Much pleasure for young people.

A child born on this day may be active, energetic, fond of change and travel, and will be successful if its far vision, intuition and versatility be brought to bear on up setting and sudden reversals.

Pilot Training Program By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—An amazing era in the history of training Army pilots is drawing to a close and at least part of the story now can be told.

It started back in 1939, when war clouds were gathering over Europe. At that time, the total personnel of the U. S. Army Air Forces numbered 21,559 men. The Army's only real facility for training pilots was Randolph Field, near San Antonio, Tex.

Gen. H. H. "Hap" Arnold called in eight civilian aviation school executives, six of whom were veterans of World War I. His proposition was probably the sorriest financial deal ever offered. He proposed that they feed, house and give primary flight training to 40 men in each of their eight civilian schools.

He couldn't offer any contracts, or even letters of intent. Not only had no money been appropriated by Congress for such training, but it wasn't even authorized. When those eight men returned to their homes, the possibilities of ever being paid were so nebulous that no banks would back them.

They raised the money somehow, some even "hocking" the family jewels" to raise from $200,000 to $500,000 that was invested in each school in the next year. Within six weeks, those eight schools were open for business. Today there are 63 of them, turning out pilots at a rate that is a military secret, but admittedly more than 100,000 a year.

Some idea of what the Army Air Forces has accomplished may be gained from the fact that the original 21,559 personnel has now jumped to nearly 2,500,000. The credit for it can go directly to genial Gen. "Hap" Arnold, who said at the time: "If this doesn't go over, I'll be worse off than Billy Mitchell. But as long as I'm here, we are going to do what needs to be done."

But much must also go to the eight original civilian flyers who gambled all on the general's simple word that he would do all he could with Congress. How close that came to a ground loop is startling now. In those days of strict neutrality, Congress wasn't handing out millions for defense. The authority for the training program squeaked through by a majority of only two votes.

The World War I pilots whom Arnold called in for that first conference were: Maj. C. C. Mosley; Maj. William F. Long; H. S. Darr; Max Balfour; Oliver L. Parks and Claude Ryan. Two top non-military flyers also invited were Alan Hancock and E. S. Sias.

One of the greatest obstacles the Army's contract training schools had to overcome was the fear of skeptics that the "barn-stormers" couldn't train pilots without a staggering accident toll. Yet there has been only one fatal accident for every 43,738 hours of primary training and one school has chalked up 395,000 hours without a fatality.

The Army now is cancelling its contracts with some of the schools. The emergency has passed. The Army and Congress have finally caught up with Gen. Arnold and the men who backed him five years ago.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Local Treatments Relieve Lumbago

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THAT VERY successful practitioner and long-time friend of mine, Dr. Isaac Ritz, whom I meet nearly every noon at Crogan's, is a little miffed at me on account of what I said a week or so ago about lumbago. He said I spoke of it as if it were a minor ailment. He says the fact that lumbago allows you to get up and about your business and that it doesn't kill you outright are its greatest disadvantages. If death would end the agony it would be bearable. I think I forgot to mention he is in the throes of an attack himself in his own person.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Dr. Ritz is of the opinion that lumbago is an epidemic infectious disease, probably caused by a virus. And there is a great deal to support this view. It certainly sweeps over communities in epidemic form, usually in the spring. It is evidenced in its early stages by a fever, or a little headache, loss of appetite and all the prodromal symptoms of an infectious state.

May Be Contagious
To show he's contagious, Dr. Ritz had an instance in his own practice of a married couple. The wife went to the Red Cross and associated with two of her sister workers who had lumbago. She came down with it 24 hours later and 24 hours after that her husband, who had been in perfect health, came down with an attack of pain in the back which put him to bed. Not only in my own home town where I know of 17 cases in the last few weeks, but my spy system has unearthed semblances of an epidemic in St. Louis, Chicago and Dallas this spring.

There is no reason why a virus should not get into the body through the digestive or respiratory systems and because it has an affinity for the lumbar muscles light there and cause trouble any more than there is why a virus, such as infantile paralysis, should enter by the same portals and light only in the nerve cells of the anterior horn of the spinal cord; it argues some kind of an affinity, chemical or biological, and there could be some such between the lumbar muscles and some other virus.

A similar analogy would apply to shingles; here it is now assumed in the best medical circles a virus in the cause it enters the body and circulating in the blood picks out only the ganglia of one or more sensory nerves.

Lumbago is so named because it lights in the lumbar muscles. These are the very heavy and strong groups of muscles in the back, which attack to the spine and are involved in nearly every movement made by the body. That's why it hurts so much. You can't even roll over in bed without having the sore muscles creak and cry out.

Non-medical Remedies

As to treatment, every patient learns sooner or later, usually later, that time is the surest reliever. To the fellow who has just had lumbago a few days this seems very cynical, but to the graduate of six weeks' standing it has at least the advantages of truth. There are innumerable drugs which are used for relief—the salicylates—such as aspirin—have always been used for rheumatism.

Dr. Ritz says the latest is to give a solution of calcium gluconate in the vein. The directions say to take it every other day, but the doctor took one dose and it heated him up so he stopped at that; he preferred the disease to the remedy. He said he had hot flashes for 24 hours. But he's sort of cranky and others might not react that way.

To my mind this is the ideal condition for non-medical remedies. Grease the back every night with an ointment with a little camphor in it, and lie down on your face and have Mama put a flannel on top of it, and run an iron—just as hot as you can stand—over the sore places. And massage—here is the ideal spot for massage. If you can get a graduate of the Kellberg Institute of Stockholm he or she will take the kinks out of you.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

C. R.: What causes curvature of the spine? Can it be the result of infantile paralysis? Are there any exercises to cure it or ways to effect a cure?

Answer: Curvature of the spine comes from bad posture, sitting in wrong positions at school desks, etc. If infantile paralysis affects the spinal muscles the result may be a curvature of the spine, and this is not uncommon. It can be corrected by exercises and orthopedic apparatus.

T. L.: What might cause blood to be in my mouth when I first awaken in the morning?

Answer: Pyorrhea ninety-nine times out of a hundred.

J. B.: The doctor tells me I have heart fibrillation. Is it safe to have a baby?

Answer: I would advise against it.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. CHAPTER FORTY-SEVEN

"Somebody is using the machine," he doesn't know much about it," the expert commented. "You notice how he has to pick out the letters?"

"Or maybe it is somebody who wants to keep his fingerprints off the keyboard by touching only the metal rims of the keys," Tony suggested. "Wearing gloves, of course, not wishing to blur Metcalf's prints."

"Phooey!" commented Schneider. "Keep that thing switched off. Now what is all this?"

"Metcalf seems to have had his foot on the button which controlled the dictograph just before he shot himself," Duffy told him. "What you just heard was him typing that note which we found in his machine."

"And then what happens?" Schneider demanded.

"Nothing much. The sounds were too faint—too far from the microphone, I guess. But maybe the amplifier will help."

Schneider settled back in his chair.

"There was a note found in the typewriter?" asked the dictograph man.

"Yes."

"If you've got it, maybe I can check what he was writing."

"Good idea," nodded Duffy, and got a sheet of paper out of a folder on his desk. "Here it is."

The expert ran the record back to the beginning and took the paper.

"Jack McKibben," he read aloud. "That's the first two words. I'll slow the machine down a little so you can get it better. Now listen—"

There were three faint taps, then eight. Then the carriage was pulled back.

"That's not it," said the man, turning off the switch. "It's something else—three words, with three, five and eight letters. Then he starts a new line. Sounds like it might be a name."

"Why of course!" exclaimed Duffy, and picked up the letter which Metcalf had written to his brother. "Here it is—Mr. Myron Metcalf."

"Metcalf has only seven letters," Tony objected.

"But there's a comma after it," said Duffy. "Try the second line, Plainville, Conn. Eleven letters and five, counting punctuation." The man nodded and turned the switch again. There were eleven taps and then five. "That settles it," said Duffy, and put the letter back on his desk.

Schneider was smiling again. "I never expected you to help me prove anything, Jim," the lawyer said. "But there it is."

"Oh, I knew it was written on Metcalf's machine as soon as I looked at it," Duffy retorted. "I've seen too many samples of that writing. Go ahead," he added to the dictograph man. "Let's have the rest of it."

There was a moment's silence, then again the rustle of paper and the noise of a ratchet. Then four taps and then eight.

"There you are," said the expert. "Jack McKibben. Now we're getting it."

The tapping kept on—the ball rang faintly—the carriage was reversed. All was still for a moment, then faint rapid footsteps crossed the floor, again silence.

"You see," said Tony, "there was someone else there. Metcalf couldn't walk around the room and keep his foot on the button at the same time."

"Wait," said Duffy, and held up his hand. "Here he comes again."

The footsteps came nearer, stopped for a moment, and then receded. Silence once more.

Then there came the sound of footsteps, short, rapid. They stopped for a moment, and then receded. There was a faint click.

"That must have been the catch on the outside door," said Tony. "Whoever was there has gone away and pulled this door shut after him."

He glanced at Miss Scott. She nodded.

Another moment's silence, and then they all started when Tony suddenly declared, "There's one point which makes me think Metcalf

"That's enough!" roared Duffy. "Go back to your chair and stay there. We're going to hear this."

"It's a frame-up!" the lawyer shouted. "I demand that you turn this machine over to its owner."

"Not until we have heard the record," said Duffy calmly.

"I tell you it's a frame-up."

"And I tell you to sit down. We'll soon see what it is."

"I won't sit down. This is an outrage."

Suppose there were no tomorrow—

Suppose there were no tomorrow? . . . Think about it for just a minute . . . No tomorrow for you, or your kid sister at home—or the brother who left for the Army yesterday. Did you ever think that we, who have had so few yesterdays, may have no tomorrows?

It has happened, you know. To Jack Feldman, and Bob Ernest—and fifteen others who sat in our classes just last term . . .

They will have no tomorrow. They died before they ever had a try at living . . . so that we might have our chance.

There are millions who were asked to give up more than a double feature at the Earle . . . or a spiffy, new pair of pumps for next week's formal. A soda is a pretty insignificant sacrifice, when you think of—

The kids in Russia, who live on a few ounces of cereal a day. They've never seen an ice cream soda.

The Polish boys and girls, who would be in school right now, just as we are . . . if there were any schools left.

The French youths who've never had a hamburger on a date—or any other time, for that matter. They are old, very old . . . older than you and I will ever be . . .

There are millions of them . . . in Norway . . . Holland . . . Denmark . . . Belgium . . . They would stare in amazement if they could be here to see—

A jalopy painted bright yellow. "The Tin You Love to Touch" printed in big, green letters on the back.

A high school senior, uncomfortable in his first tuxedo . . . calling for his date, looking nervous.

Millions of things that we take for granted . . .

"Hey, Maestro! Play 'Stardust!'"

. . . There is such a feeling of permanency in our tight little world. We'll go to school with the gang, today . . . and tomorrow . . .

But, WHAT IF THERE WERE NO TOMORROW? There's only one way to be sure, you know—

Buy War Bonds . . . That's a simple little phrase. It's the American way of saying what we mean in a few direct words. Buy War Bonds.

Yes—you and everybody must buy War Bonds. We've got to buy more and more, and more of 'em. Just get the idea into your head that your $18.75 might—just might end the war one-fifth of one second sooner. That maybe, in that one-fifth of a second, the boy next door could be on the receiving end of a bullet . . . Then you'll know it's worth it!

We've got to keep on plugging, saving, convincing. Giving our pin money . . .

Tell everybody—sell everybody! We can't take no for an answer . . . tomorrow—and tomorrow—and tomorrow.

Met Opera Opens Cleveland Show

CLEVELAND, May 1.—The Metropolitan Opera company's 19th annual Cleveland spring festival opens in a splash of color and brilliance tonight with the presentation of Jacques Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffmann."
The colorful scenery for the "Tales" was bought with a $10,000 gift from the Northern Ohio Opera association, indicative of the fantasy's recurrent popularity among radio audiences. The Met's new soprano, Patricia Munsell, makes her first Cleveland appearance in a cast that includes Helen Jepson, Eleanor Steber, Ezio Pinza and John Gurney. Sir Thomas Beecham conducts the orchestra.
Eight operas, seven of which have been assured capacity audiences, will be presented during the week. Saturday the weekly Metropolitan radio broadcast is scheduled from Cleveland, with a presentation of Georges Bizet's "Carmen." Lily Djanel will sing the role of the saucy Spanish maid, supported by Lucia Albanese, Thelma Votipka and Raoul to Tobin.

FLORIDA VOTE

highest number will fight it out in a run-off May 23. Few expect Pepper to fail to get at least enough to take him into a run-off. It will be a major New Deal setback if he runs farther back than second.
3. It will be the first southern Democratic primary — along with Alabama's, likewise scheduled Tuesday — since the Supreme court's decision holding Texas Negroes may vote in a Democratic primary there, party rules or no. Florida's Negroes voting in the primary has not been changed, but Negroes say they will attempt to vote in two or three districts Tuesday. If prevented, an appeal to the courts is expected to follow.

Equal to Election
4. It will be the first election in the nation which has found a candidate for state office running on a pledge to help put over a constitutional amendment that would abolish the closed shop. The candidate in question is Attorney General J. Tom Watson. His slogan is: "Reflect the candidate who is fighting for the right to work—and vote in the general election next November for the amendment to our state constitution which abolishes closed shops but preserves collective bargaining by unions."
In Florida, "nomination on the Democratic ticket is tantamount to election," as they put it down here. The Republicans have only a few primary contests, the state being overwhelmingly and traditionally Democratic. With the exception of Herbert Hoover in 1928, Florida hasn't voted for a Republican for president since reconstruction days.
Sen. Pepper, who has made as many as a dozen speeches a day, says much of his opposition comes from "Republicans." He defines these as Republicans who have registered Democratic to get in a lick at the New Deal.

English Lutherans Burn Mortgage During Rites

Burning the mortgage on their church building yesterday during the morning worship service, the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church congregation heard Rev. George W. Miles of Columbus, president of the Ohio synod, deliver a sermon that commemorated the liquidation of a debt incurred when the church was built in 1931.
J. A. Fehr and Dan Pearson were in charge of the ceremony, which included a brief history on the reduction of the debt, given by Frank G. Wilms, building fund treasurer.

for active pall bearers—will represent the three branches of the naval service, four each from the enlisted ranks of the Navy, Coast guard and Marines.

Leading the horse-drawn caisson on the two-mile march to Arlington cemetery will be first the escort commander, Rear Adm. L. E. Denfeld and his staff, followed by the navy band, battalions of Marines, Bluejackets, Coastguardsmen and the women's services, Waves, Spars and Marines.
Immediately following the military units, in the prescribed procession, come the clergy, then the 16 honorary pall bearers, the personal flag of the secretary, the caisson with body bearers marching smartly at its side, and the family and friends of Knox.

At the grave ceremonies are turned over almost entirely to the military services — a committal service read by Navy Chaplain S. W. Salisbury, a final volley fired by a bluejacket squad, and taps sounded by a navy bugler.

Engineer, Firemen Die In Pittsburgh Wreck

PITTSBURGH, May 1.—The engineer and fireman of the head locomotive of the Pennsylvania railroad's Jeffersonian were killed today when the fast New York-St. Louis passenger train plowed into a wrecked freight train a mile east of Trafford.
The dead were Walter Roklein, 52, of Portage, Pa., engineer, and F. Briggs, 27, of Altoona, Pa., fireman.
Both locomotives of the double-header train overturned, but neither the engineer nor fireman of the second was injured, the company reported. None of the 600 passengers on the 15-car train was hurt, the company said, and none of the cars was derailed or damaged.

The General Sherman tree in Sequoia National park is supposedly the oldest, largest living thing in the world.

Ohioans Active In Record Air Blows At Hitler's Europe

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 1.—Ohio airmen figured prominently in the weekend action over Europe during history's greatest aerial campaign.
Lieut. Richard A. Spencer, 28, of Cleveland, piloted a Flying Fortress which claimed six Nazi planes destroyed during Saturday's air battle over Berlin. Crews of three of the four-engined ships alone claimed a total of 22 German fighters shot down.
Fighters which escorted U. S. bombers over France yesterday shot down 18 Nazis and destroyed at least five others around. Lieut. William McDermott of Elyria shared one plane shot down with another airman, while Lieut. Thomas K. McDill of Oxford, O., destroyed one enemy ship on the ground and Col. Donald J. M. Blakeslee of Fairport Harbor shared two ground.
Sergt. Henry Augustine of Hamilton gave this account of action during a pre-invasion tour over the continent: "For about five minutes, 15 or 20 ME109s sat out about a thousand yards from us. Then we made a big curve and came in head-on through the group on our right which had no escort for the moment. They shot down one Fort and kept going."
Sergt. Robert R. Pinnick of 256 E. Michigan st., Sebring, radio operator and gunner, completed his 21st mission yesterday with a trip over southern France. The last seven trips were made in as many days but Pinnick said he'd "fly as many more consecutive missions as they set up for us."

WIDOW IS MOTHER OF SIAMESE TWINS

(By Associated Press)
PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., May 1.—Siamese twins were born here yesterday to a 24-year-old widow. The children and mother were reported in good condition today.

"Cute little blonde girls," a nurse said. But the attending physician reported they never would walk; that one showed signs of bad circulation; that they never could be separated; that if one died, the other would follow within a few hours—possibly minutes.

"Oh, gosh!" said the mother, Mrs. Mary Stierly, gasped when informed of the birth. Her husband, Harold, a war plant worker, was killed in a motorcycle accident two months ago.

The girls weigh 12 pounds, are joined together at the pelvis, have a single alimentary tract, and their inner legs are joined together, terminating in a single foot with only one toe. The outer legs, torsos and heads are perfectly formed.

One child is much smaller than the other. It was in the smaller one that bad circulation was detected.

He described their structure as "one of the rarest in the rare field of Siamese twins."

"They are end to end," he said, "with a common pelvic area and a single pair of buttocks. One of the twins has her head at one end of the crib; the other's head is at the opposite end."

"Running out perpendicularly from side of the pelvic area and parallel to the bed surface are two perfectly formed legs; from the other side of the pelvic area is one leg which has been fused together from two legs."

The girls were given only water yesterday. They received food today for the first time.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 1.—The senate threw out some support today for tax benefits for big families. Some senators want the government to go all-out to encourage a population increase.

The new simplified tax measure, which has been promised swift congressional approval, would cut the tax bills for large families by allowing a flat $500 deduction for every member of the family (the present deduction is only $350 for each child).

POLITICAL FOOTBALL?
Sen. Tamm, Delaware Democrat, charged Republicans have tried to make a "political football" out of the government's seizure of Montgomery Ward properties in Chicago. A Republican senator, Aiken of Vermont, promptly retorted that the seizure was an unwarranted use of the executive power designed to "keep labor in line for the fourth term."

A representative of a senate judiciary subcommittee already is inquiring into the case in Chicago.

PUERTO RICAN REVOLT

Belivan Pagan, Puerto Rican resident commissioner to Congress, says his fellow citizens are "almost on the verge of revolt" against the regime of Governor Rexford Guy Tugwell, whose ouster he demanded.

"If the American flag had not been waving over Puerto Rico the people would have already gone into open revolt by arms," Pagan said. He compared Tugwell's "dictatorial attitude" with the tactics of Hitler and Mussolini.

NEW CARS

The nation's stockpile of new passenger automobiles has dwindled from 532,000 at the start of rationing to 47,000.

The Office of Price Administration, reporting this today, said it means rationing "will have to get together and tighter until new car production is in sight."

"It is essential," OPA said, "that some new cars be made available as long as possible to take care of highly important services, such as police or medical services."

During may 10,000 cars or about a fifth of the number remaining will be released. The quota for June and subsequent months is expected to be considerably smaller.

On the other hand, the agency reported may allocations of new synthetic passenger tire tubes have been increased and more tires and tubes are available for small trucks and farm tractors.

New passenger tube allocation is raised from 850,200 units in April to a total of 1,100,000 for May.

Fill Coal Bins Early For Next Year, Is Hint

If you were a mine operator or dealer in coal such as William Tolerton, manager of the Citizens Ice and Coal Co., you would know and fully appreciate the serious effect of lack of manpower to operate mines at full capacity.

The chief reason is the draft, with policies changing in relation to mine labor. The young men who were best at this he-man business are being taken away by the draft, and most of the older men have less productive ability.

The National Coal association recently estimated that the year's production "may possibly run from 60 to even 100 million tons below the 620 million tons originally estimated as the nation's requirements for the next year."

Such facts may not be taken too seriously by the average home owner now that warm weather is at hand but the more serious minded will realize that its only a few months before the matter of coal will or at least may be a very serious matter. Those that do think ahead will arrange with the Citizens Ice and Coal Co., now for their next winter's needs and at some convenient time during the summer their bins will be filled. This action will relieve them of any worries and at the same time be making the best possible use of the limited manpower and transportation equipment. It's patriotic to act now.

GUILFORD GRANGE

'Gen.' Coxe Delivers Speech After 50 Years

WASHINGTON, May 1.—"General" Jacob S. Coxe, in good voice despite his 90 years, finished the speech today he started to make from the capitol steps 50 years ago.

Coxe, who in 1894 led a march of 5,000 citizens on Washington from his hometown of Massillon, O., in behalf of interest-free government bonds as a panacea for depressions, made much the same plea today before some 200 Capitol Hill employees, visiting servicemen and others.

The "general" was halted as he began his speech 50 years ago and ordered by police away from the Capitol.

Spring Weather Aids Nursery Stock Plants

If ever Mother Nature has been good to those who plant shade trees, fruit trees and do general landscaping, it has been this spring. Cool and damp weather are the two most necessary conditions for successful transplanting.

Cope Bros. and Fultz nursery on Depot road has been taking advantage of every day in getting nursery stock ready for shipment and local plantings. Hundreds of families in this vicinity are setting out early bearing types of fruit trees for their victory orchards and many have been surprised to find how well such trees will blend into landscape plantings.

Local grown nursery stock is more likely to succeed than the same kinds that are shipped in.

Fruit trees, shade trees, flowering shrubs and all ornamental trees and evergreens are grown at the Cope Bros. and Fultz nursery. You are invited to visit there at any time and make your selections from the extensive plantings.

Home Insulation Works In Summer and Winter

If your home is not insulated, regardless of its age, and whether it is clapboard, brick veneer, stucco, or shingled, it can be made a far more comfortable and economical place in which to live than you ever have dreamed possible.

The purpose of insulating a house is to help prevent summer heat from penetrating through walls and roofs, and to help prevent interior heat in winter from escaping to the cold air outside. When this is scientifically done, as it is with Johns-Manville blown rock wool insulation, houses are comfortable the year 'round and become healthier and more pleasant places in which to live.

Rock blown wool as developed in the laboratories of the Johns-Manville Co. is simply molten rock subjected to a jet of live steam which utterly "blows" it into soft, fleecy particles containing minute trapped air cells which resist the passage of heat. It will not rot or corrode. It is light in weight, odorless, clean and easily handled.

R. B. Finley of the Finley Music Co., 132 S. Broadway, can give you the cost figures for installing insulation in your home and now just a reminder, the National Coal association recently stated the production for this year "may possibly run from 60 to 100 million tons below their original estimates." While you are saving coal you will be relieving a critical coal shortage that may develop.

Quakers Pull Surprise Win In Track Meet At Uhrichsville

Salem High Places In Every Event; Boardman Is Second

Picking up points in every one of the 16 events Saturday afternoon at the seventh annual Uhrichsville relays, Salem High's track team came home with 64 1/2 points—a good 18 points more than the second highest team in the 12-squad affair.

Winning the Uhrichsville title adds a great deal of prestige to the Quakers' already impressive record, as they outdid 11 other teams in the meet Saturday.

Boardman came in second with 46 7/12 points and Louisville followed with 40. Fourth place went to Canton McKinley with 29 3/4 points.

Others in the meet were Dennison 15, Canton Lehman 14 3/4, East Palestine 16 1/4, Dover 8, Uhrichsville 3 5/6, New Philadelphia 0, Freeport 1, Lewisville 9.

Dunlap High Scorer

The Salem team placed in every event, even in the shuttle and medley relays, which Cope hadn't planned on entering before he left here Saturday. Individual honors in scoring went to Charlie Dunlap again as the flashy veteran topped first in the 100-yard dash, a tie for first in the high jump, and third in the broad jump and 220-yard dash. He totaled 15 1/2 points.

Entenken Stars

Flick Entenken pushed to the front in three events and ran off with firsts in the pole vault and low hurdles. These points, coupled with his second place in the high hurdles, gave him 14 points, his best performance of the year.

Cope was well pleased with the showing and said he was just a little surprised at the easy time the Quakers had winning the meet. Improvement was shown by Walt Brian in the discus throw, Charlie Myers in the shot put, and Bill Stout in his half-mile relay post. The half-mile relay squad turned in its best time of the year to top first in one minute and 36 seconds.

A dual affair with Struthers will be held at Reilly field tomorrow, and there is a possibility that Warren may join Struthers here to make it a triangular meet.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 1.—Overseas sports roundup:

ITALY

A recent letter to International League President Frank Shaughnessy from a high-ranking air force officer in Italy offered this suggestion: "I don't see why some of you smart baseball men haven't got together two good picked baseball teams and brought them overseas to entertain the boys."

"I have heard hundreds of boys say they would walk 20 miles just to see a real pro game."

CHINA

A not-so-recent softball game in China was contested so hotly that the "CBI Roundup," far eastern Army paper, printed accounts given both by the winners and losers.

Both sides agreed that the battery, Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault pitching and Brig. Gen. Edgar Glenn catching, had a lot to do with the officers' victory but the defeated "Liberators of China" added credit to "the indispensable part played by the two blind men who were calling 'em."

ALUTAIANS

The Alaskan edition of "Yank" tells how S. Sgt. Francis J. Beckman of Portland, Ore., and T. Sgt. Louis Boawn of Seattle laid out a complete ski run, including a 600-foot tow and a 35-meter jump, at an Aleutian base. Sgt. Art Carey of Lake George, N. Y., teaches skiing to any dogface willing to learn.

Power for the ski tow is supplied, of course, by a jeep motor.

PANAMA CANAL ZONE

Excerpts from a letter from Lieut. Barney Plesser, former Penn State track star, to Tub-Thumper Jim Cookan: "Yesterday I flew up to Costa Rica with our championship baseball team, which now is in the canal department's 'world series.' The team is called Carney's Flyers and has as its captain none other than the mighty Pte. Terry Moore. Every time Terry gets up to bat the GI's kid the merry dickens out of him. In fact, he laughs so much when he is at bat as a result of these jabs he can hardly stand up. He struck out once yesterday and I thought the crowd would go crazy; the opposing pitcher just blushed with pride."

If the earth were a chessboard, 46 of the 64 squares would be water.

BASEBALL GETTING WARTIME SUPPORT OF AMERICAN FANS

Total of 208,943 Persons Crowd Stands at Eight Major League Games

BY TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Any lingering doubts that the public didn't want baseball in this third wartime season were dispelled yesterday by an outpouring of more than 208,943 fans for eight major league doubleheaders at New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Detroit, Washington, Boston and Chicago. These figures do not include thousands of service men who were admitted free.

The national pastime was given an added endorsement by George W. McMurphy, chief of the War Production Board's recreation division, who announced in Washington that the WPB may release materials for erection of lights in big league parks not now equipped for night games. He mentioned the Boston Red Sox, Boston Braves, Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs as being interested in installing lights. More than 200 night games already are scheduled in the National and American leagues.

The largest Sunday turnout was at the Polo grounds in New York where 58,058—including 52,037 paid—saw the Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers split a bizarre twin bill. Thousands were turned away.

Giants Take Opener

The Giants ran away with the opener, 2-8, as Phil Weintraub batted in eleven runs and Ernie Lombardi, seven. The Dodgers rallied to win the nightcap, 5-4. Joe Medwick of the Giants was hit in the groin by a thrown pop bottle between games, but was not hurt seriously although he was kept out of the second game. Leo Durocher, Brooklyn manager, was banished in the sixth inning of the opener.

The St. Louis Cardinals kept on top of the National loop by sweeping a doubleheader from the tail-end Cubs, 5 to 0 and 7 to 5. Southpaw Max Lanier won his third straight game in the opener. Stan Musial's three-run homer won the nightcap. The double setback ran the Cubs' losing streak to nine.

Ernie Bonham and Hank Borowy hurried the New York Yankees to a double victory over Washington, 2 to 1 and 3 to 2, before 31,057. The St. Louis Browns stayed in first place by splitting with the Chicago White Sox, losing the opener 6 to 5 but taking the afterpiece 5 to 4.

Tobin Going Strong

Cleveland and Detroit split their bargain encounter before 38,530—second largest crowd of the day—at Detroit. The Indians took the opener, 2 to 1, and the Tigers the nightcap, 4 to 2.

The Phillies went 14 innings to beat the Boston Braves, 2 to 1, in the first game of a twin bill before 30,392 at Philadelphia, but had to be content with a nine inning 2-2 tie in the second game when Butch Neman socked a ninth-inning homer. Jim Tobin hurled one hitless inning to stretch his streak to 13 consecutive hitless frames.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati also split a twin bill as did the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox. Pittsburgh won the first game, 7-1, while the Reds took the nightcap, 4 to 1, behind Bucky Walters' three-hitter. Bob Johnson's homer gave the Red Sox a 3 to 2 triumph over the A's in the first game. Ope Mackmen snapped back to take the afterpiece, 3 to 1.

ANADARKO, Okla.—Doctors treated 15-month-old Kenneth Ray Pool, whose parents live near here, for intestinal influenza for five months before they finally discovered what really ailed the baby. He had swallowed a skeleton key.

The nickel is the only modern American coin not carrying the words "In God We Trust."

From The Owners Standpoint It Will Be A Different Derby

(By Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, May 1.—The familiar atmosphere which Col. Matt Winn annually entwines around the Kentucky Derby will save the inveterate race fan from thinking he is seeing another race when some 15 three-year-olds horses break from the barrier in the 70th running of the $75,000 turf classic at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Even the hardboot from the nearby Blue Grass country, who can quote breeding lines almost from the beginning of the thoroughbred, will feel a little uneasy. There'll be the ever-present mob—probably 50,000 or more, even though the ODT and local hostilities have clamped down on railroad and hotel reservations and street cars will be the chief mode of travel to the ancient oval.

Superintendent Tom Young again will have the track bedecked in all its spring splendor and the band will play "My Old Kentucky Home" as the horses parade from the paddock.

But there the resemblance between this and any other Derby becomes strictly coincidental.

Looking over the owners of the probable starters one finds only the familiar name of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greenleaf stable and Warren Wright's Calumet farm, providing, of course, the latter decides today to ship Pensive from Maryland for the big event.

All the other owners combined haven't been in racing as long as the first lady of the turf and not one of them ever had a starter in the Downs' mile and one-quarter run for the roses. Even Mrs. Whitney's familiar pink and black silk colors wouldn't be present were it not for the war, unless Trainer John Gaver names Broad Grin to run with his very highly regarded stablemate, Stur Up.

Stur Up, who'll probably be close to even money favorite at post time, was purchased by Mrs. Whitney's son, Col. John Hay (Jock) Whitney, for $3,800 as a yearling but with the advent of the war Jock merged his racing interests with those of his mother.

Among the newcomers is Robert J. Dienst, Beulah park owner from Columbus, who'll bank on Brief Sign.

Yes, it is an odd-looking lineup with the only well-known owner the favorite to send out her third Derby winner—only one short of the record held by Col. E. R. Bradley. And, to add to the unfamiliar note, Col. Bradley again will be without a representative.

TRIBE AND CHISOX WILL OPEN SERIES

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, May 1.—Cleveland's Indians, the only major league team which distributes its home games between two ball parks, make their first 1944 appearance at League park today in the opener of a four-game series with the Chicago White Sox.

The Tribe played its first three home games in pitchers' paradise, spacious Municipal stadium, but the hitters hope to add a few points to their batting averages this week in the smaller confines of the old Lexington ave. orchard.

Hal Kline, 20-year-old southpaw recruit, receives his first starting assignment with the Indians today as he opposes Thornton (Lefty) Lee, a former Tribe hurler.

Manager Lou Boudreau probably won't appear in the lineup. He received a severe ankle sprain at Detroit yesterday when Rudy York of the Tigers slid into him on a close play at second base. Russ Peters moved to short from the keystone sack and Jimmy Grant took over second when Boudreau was forced to retire.

The Indians split yesterday's double bill with the Tigers, winning the opener 2 to 1 and dropping the afterpiece 4 to 2. The win in the nightcap was Detroit's only triumph in the four-game series.

Writer Recalls 26-Inning Ball Game; Longest Game In History Ended In Tie

BY LEROY ATKINSON

BOSTON, May 1.—It was just 24 years ago today, son, that the Brooklyn Robins—we called 'em Robins back in those days—and the Boston Braves tangled at Braves field in a 1-1 game that was finally called after 26 innings on account of darkness.

Climb upon granddaddy's knee, son, and hear about that game when Joe Oeschger, a dark-skinned giant of St. Mary's college, pitched for the Braves and Leon Cadore pitched for the Robins.

Son, you probably have seen Babe Ruth and Ted Williams smack that pill over the walls and you have sat behind home plate goggle-eyed at the pitching wizardry of Lefty Grove and Dizzy Dean.

You have had your Joe Gordons and Bobby Doerrs, the DiMaggios and Jimmy Foxx and you believed that you saw the ultimate in baseball.

But in 1920 this Joe Oeschger and this Leon Cadore pitched those 26 innings from beginning to end in the longest game in major league history. And, son, how many could pitch 26 innings and allow only one run apiece today?

It was a dark and cloudy Saturday with rain clouds dripping showers so that only 4,000 of us turned out.

Homers Scarce

You youngsters pluck your baseball thrills from the whistle of the home run but 24 years back we enjoyed small-score games, the split-second swish of the double-play, the pretty sacrifice and the daring stolen base. It was the 1-1 or the 1-0 games that sent the quivers down our spines.

Though only two runs were scored that day there were thrills enough packed into the 26 innings and the three hours and 59 minutes.

Just imagine! It was 1-1 in the first half of the 17th inning and the bases were filled with Brooklyn runners. The perspiration was pouring off Oeschger. But the Braves pulled their chests out of the fire with a hell-for-leather play at home plate where Hank Gowdy saved the day.

In the ninth, also with the score at one-all, the Braves filled the bases when Cadore of the Robins intentionally walked a Boston batter.

That was baseball, son. True, there were no home runs but we had our thrills.

The Robins were in second place that day, pressing the Giants, while the Braves were sixth.

Pitchers Tough

Both Oeschger and Cadore were husky gents with good curves and plenty of guts.

Cadore had a shade in the breaks. Three times he batted down hits, hits that ordinarily would have been home runs.

East Tech Winner At Ohio Wesleyan

COLUMBUS, May 1.—Contenders for the 1944 Ohio High school track and field championship know it will be no easy task to take the title away from Cleveland East Tech when the state meet is held here late this month.

Any hopes—among the other schools—that East Tech might be a little easier to beat this year were killed Saturday as the Scarabs romped to an easy victory in the 13th annual Ohio Wesleyan High school relays at Delaware, first big outdoor track meet of the season.

They scored in seven of 11 events, won four first places and tied for a fifth to pile up 36 points, more than double the number accumulated by second-place Columbus East.

The only places East Tech showed any signs of weakness were in the middle distance and distance runs and in the pole vault and discus. The team failed to place in either the two-mile or medley relays and got no points in the discus or pole vault.

Invasion Arsenals Dot Great Britain From End To End

BY E. D. BALL
AP Features

SOMEWHERE IN BRITAIN — You'd never connect war with that peacefully budding forest over there in a saucer of green hills. But caged in the shadows of this pastoral picture is enough American-made explosive to blow Hitler and a sizeable chunk of his master race into the next county.

It's one of a vast network of invasion supply dumps where mountains of munitions are accumulating above and underneath the English countryside.

Here are ten upon ten of bombs, incendiaries by the thousands, bullets by million.

From these tremendous stores you could "bomb-up" enough Flying Fortresses to raze a big part of Berlin, supply enough machine-gun and artillery ammunition for several major battles and provide bazookas with enough rockets to knock out every tank in the German army.

Nature provides most of the camouflage for these dumps; roads leading to them are expertly concealed from the air. You can pass within a few yards of one and not know it's there.

Storage bays are spaced at safe distance. Special chambers banked with brick and concrete house such material as primers, detonators and explosive charges.

Institute Assembly Line

Assembly line principles have been applied, so fast is the stuff coming across the Atlantic and from Britain's own arsenals.

The reason for that is sound. All shells produced under identical conditions register approximately the same performance. For instance, artillery batteries firing

ALLIED PLANES

channel skies were filled throughout the forenoon.

The massive force of British-based planes which carried out yesterday's daylight operations included about 1,000 heavy American bombers and their fighter escorts. One heavy bomber, one medium bomber and four fighters of the attacking forces failed to return. Escort pilots shot down 18 German aircraft and destroyed a number of others on the ground while bomber crews bagged seven German planes.

Three American aerial task forces of Flying Fortresses and Liberators spearheaded Sunday's attacks directed against German airdromes, coastal defenses and railways.

Nazi Loss 1,300 Fighters
These daylight operations wound up a month which saw at least 100,000 tons of explosives and probably more dropped in Germany and occupied territory by aerial fleets operating from both Italian and British bases.

Lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle said American fighters and bomber gunners during heavy bomber missions by the U. S. Eighth air force in April knocked out more than 1,300 German fighters—a total "substantially more than the entire German aircraft production for the month."

In a broadcast to the United States last night, the Eighth air force commander placed the April losses of his command at 359 bombers and 144 fighters. The enemy fighter kill included more than 800 German planes blasted out of the sky in aerial combat and more than 500 destroyed on the ground.

(Doolittle's fighters apparently combined the total bag of his own (Strategic) air force and the U. S. Ninth (tactical) air force, which furnishes part of the fighter escort for nearly every one of the Eighth's raids, an unofficial check of communiqués reported for April indicated. These war bulletins do not separate figures for the two air forces.)

The RAP during April sent heavy bombers out from Britain on 13 nights and they flew a total of around 9,350 sorties at a cost of 315 four-engined bombers. The British bombers dumped more than 34,700 tons of explosives.

FAVOR LOWER TAX FOR BIG FAMILIES

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Bargain tax rates for big families picked up some fatherly support in the senate today, along with suggestions that even more should be done to encourage an increase in population.

The new simplification measure, which has been promised swift congressional action, would cut the tax bills for large families by allowing a flat $500 exemption on every member of the family. The current deduction for each child is $350. By the same token, the new measure would increase tax liabilities for childless couples.

"I say that in view of the high cost of living, the high cost of bringing up children, the deduction should be even more," said Sen. Maybank (D., S. C.). "It never was enough."

Senators Ferguson (R., Mich.) and Downey (D., Calif.) both expressed doubt there would be much inducement in the measure as it stands to increase the birth rate.

"The trouble is the cost of children always has been more than the amount parents can save on tax exemptions," Ferguson said.

Downey, who has five children himself, agreed. But he said it would be fine if the higher exemptions did lead to bigger families, "because we Americans are a declining population."

A provision in the new bill for permitting deductions for children to continue as long as they are in college, instead of stopping arbitrarily when they become 18, won hearty endorsement from both Downey and Sen. Chandler (D., Ky.).

"The silliest thing we ever did," said Chandler, "was to stop the exemption just when children go off to school, when they cost the most."

It would favor an even larger deduction.

Sen. Shipstead (R., Minn.) pondered the old question of why American parents don't have more children and came up with what he called a partial explanation: "Too many women would rather work and make more money, than raise a family."

Brewster Hits FDR As Administrator

(By Associated Press)

NORFOLK, Neb., May 1.—Sen. Owen Brewster (R., Maine) today said "one of the best informed Democrats in Washington has wisely said, 'The President is one of the greatest politicians and one of the worst administrators the world has ever seen!'"

In an address prepared for delivery at the Nebraska Republican convention Brewster charged "the same intermeddling by White House favorites behind the scenes that has bedeviled our domestic difficulties has been even more disastrous in foreign affairs."

"Chaos in domestic affairs at home has been succeeded by chaos in our diplomatic affairs abroad. The diplomatic conduct of our foreign policy has been tragically mismanaged. Hull's victory at Moscow was immediately robbed of its fruits by Hull's absence at Teheran. Stalin and Churchill retreated in disgust and in despair from foreign policies counseled by a Harry Hopkins instead of a Hull."

Military conduct of the war, he added, "has been all that could be desired or at least expected."

Brewster referred to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as "a young David who may be the one to slay the Goliath of bureaucracy that now dominates in Washington."

RIVER CANAL

would give eastern Ohio's industrial area a waterway to the Ohio river and thence to the Mississippi river valley.

Sen. Burton wants the subcommittee to add the project to a $400,000 house-approved postwar rivers and harbors authorization bill. Backing him are Representatives Kirwan and Bender and Sen. Taft.

Witnesses, among them bitter opponents, came from Pennsylvania and other sections as well as Ohio. This is one of many hearings over the years. The last was in 1941, when rivers and harbors legislation was sidetracked because of the war and before President Roosevelt recommended postwar authorizations as part of a public works program for jobs.

President Roosevelt at one time approved an allotment of money to start construction of the short canal but the work never was begun.

Army engineers since have laid aside their plans, suggesting that Congress settle the question. That is what Sen. Burton is asking the subcommittee to do.

The Amazon river basin is almost as large as the United States.

Stalin Calls For Combined Attacks To Smash Germany

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, May 1.—Premier Marshal Josef Stalin, in a May day pronouncement, today declared the Red army and the Allied armed forces must launch simultaneous onslaughts from east and west to finish off "the wounded German beast.... in his own den."

"There can be no doubt that only a combined blow such as this will be able finally to crush Hitler's Germany," Stalin declared in a broadcast order of the day which praised the Allies for their "considerable contribution" to past Russian successes.

Stalin said "under the blows of the Red army, the bloc of Fascist states is cracking and tumbling down" and exhorted the peoples of Rumania, Hungary, Finland and Bulgaria to "take the matter of their liberation" from the German yoke into their own hands.

The Red army's task cannot be limited to throwing the Germans out of Russian soil, he declared. "A wounded beast who has gone into his lair does not cease to be a dangerous one."

Stalin said American and British troops "are holding the front against the Germans in Italy and are diverting a considerable part of the German forces from us. They supply us with very valuable strategic raw materials and armaments and subject to systematic bombing military objectives in Germany, thus undermining the military power of the latter."

He asserted, however, that the Red army's successes would have been obliterated after the first serious Axis counterblow if the troops "had not been supported from the rear by the whole of our Soviet people and by all our country."

Stalin said it was difficult to count on the governments of the Nazi satellite countries to break with Germany.

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence P. Haersly, Franklin st., rating very good.

A banquet was held Friday night by the senior clubs, concluding their two-day state convention in Columbus, at which junior contestants were guests. Following the rating announcements on Saturday a program was given by junior musicians, with Liu Liang-Mo of the China Relief agency in New York, as principal speaker. The subject of his address was "Mass Singing in China."

Liang revealed that mass singing in China is a very new form of music for its people, since the custom of solo singing has been followed through centuries. The new singing movement is the result of the efforts of Chinese leaders to provide a voice for the unity of the masses.

Mrs. Gaillard B. Fuller of Loveland, Ohio federation president presided at the program.

Mrs. Steven Odoran, Mrs. L. D. Cessna and Mrs. E. E. Dymall, counsellor for the two junior music groups here, accompanied the students to Columbus.
